

By Order of the President and Council of the ROYAL COMPANY OF ARCHERS,

MONDAY, the 10th of July instant, being the Anniversary Meeting of the Royal Company for Shooting for the Prize of the SILVER ARROW, given by the Good Town of Edinburgh, the Members of the Company are desired to meet at their Hall that day by 12 o'clock noon, from thence to march to Burntside Links to shoot for the Prize, and afterwards to dine, at four o'clock precisely.

It is equally for the honour of the Good Town and the Royal Company, that this meeting should be respectable. The President and Council therefore, earnestly entreat the attendance of all those members whom convenience will permit; more particularly the General Officers and Practical Archers of the Company; and they hope this request will be the more cheerfully complied with, that, for some time past, they have declined, and still wish to decline, adopting any of those compulsory measures, which their charters and laws authorize.

SIR GUY CARLETON'S PENSION.

On the report of the resolutions from the Committee for enabling his Majesty to grant a pension of £1000 per annum to Sir Guy Carleton, for his own life, and for the lives of his lady, and two sons forever.

General Burgoyne rose, and in a very handsome speech, bore testimony to the high merit of Sir Guy Carleton, as an officer. He said, he should injure his feelings, if upon this occasion he omitted to state to the House the very great alacrity and zeal which General Carleton displayed in fitting out the flower of his army, for the expedition which he was appointed to command, though a junior officer, at a time when his services were viewed with a partial eye. And he could also farther say, that had not Sir Guy Carleton acted as he did, while Commander in Chief, that his private fortune would not have demanded this instance of his Majesty's bounty. To reward such a man, he observed, was true policy, as it was an incitement to others to serve their country with fidelity.

The resolution was unanimously agreed to.

EAST-INDIA COMPANY.

The order of the day was then moved for the third Reading of the East-India Company's relief bill; and Mr Rous and Mr Watson were heard as counsel for the Company, relative to certain modifications of the bill.

After which the House adjourned.

FROM THE INDIA GAZETTE, Dec. 5, 1785.

On Friday was determined in the Supreme Court, a cause which had taken up ten days in trying. It was an action brought by a native of the Brahmin Caste, against T. Motte, and E. Maxwell, Esqrs. superintendents of the police, for an assault and false imprisonment. The plaintiff was brought before the defendants, charged with having committed an assault. He requested a day's time to send for witnesses to disprove the charge; and on being refused, he offered bail: This was also refused, and he was put into confinement. An application by letter was made to the defendants, by an attorney, to release him. On the receipt of which letter, the plaintiff was flogged with twenty stripes, as some of his witnesses said, for having employed an attorney. The defendants endeavoured to justify their right to apprehend persons charged with crimes, under their appointment, by the Governor General and Council; but the Court would not allow this to be a justification since the repeal by the King in Council of the bye-law, by which the superintendency of the police was established; though they permitted the defendants to give evidence under this justification, in mitigation of damages.

The Judges were unanimous, that the assault and imprisonment were fully proved; but differed in their opinions as to the extent of the damages to be given to the plaintiff. Sir William Jones was for giving five thousand pounds. Mr Justice Hyde and Sir Robert Chambers thought two thousand rupees full compensation; and for this sum judgment was given with costs of suit.

Captain Charles Deare is appointed Commissary of Stores, in the room of Lieutenant Colonel Duff, who has resigned that office.

Majors McGowan and Watson are appointed to the commands of the 11th and 4th regiments of Seapoys, in the room of Majors Hawkins and McClary, retiring on furlough.

Captain Jonathan Wood is appointed to the 2d battalion of the 11th regiment of Seapoys.

Captain Henry Mordaunt is appointed to the command of Fort Buxar, vice Captain Cornelius Bradford, deceased.

Lieutenant H. P. Monck is appointed to succeed to the office of Judge-Advocate General, upon the embarkation of Mr Thomas Martin for Europe.

Captain John Mawbey is appointed to the command of the 2d battalion of the 6th regiment of Seapoys, and Captain Bennet Morley to the 2d battalion of the 25th regiment.

Captain George Wilson is appointed to the 1st battalion of the 8th regiment of Seapoys; Captain John Hutchinson to the 2d battalion of the 9th regiment, and Captain J. Hamilton to the 1st battalion of the 24th regiment.

Captain Lieutenant Brown is appointed Commissary of Ordnance at Chunar, in the room of Capt. Hufley, who has resigned that office.

Lieutenant Humphreys is appointed Secretary to the Board of Ordnance, in the room of Captain Macintyre, resigned.

LONDON, June 29.

Yesterday the three young Princes, attended by Lord Howe and General Faucett, went to Gravesend, and embarked on board the Angusta yacht for Germany.

His Grace of Dorset having taken a house in town, and ordered it to be prepared for immediate residence, are circumstances that seem to render his Grace's return to Paris doubtful.

The following arrangements are talked of in the fashionable circles:—Lord Salisbury to succeed to the Lieutenancy of Ireland, and the Duke of Dorset to the office of Lord Chamberlain. The Marquis of Carmarthen, intending to withdraw himself from an active department, the place of Secretary of State is to be filled, when that event happens, by the Right Hon. Charles Jenkinson.

Lord Carmarthen, according to report, has been offered the embassy to the Court of Versailles; but, his Lordship having made a promise to his noble father not to quit England during the life of the latter, it is thought he will decline the favour intended him.

An opinion, it is said, prevails generally in Spain, that a matrimonial connection will be formed between a Prince of that kingdom and a daughter of England upon the terms of mutual indulgence in religious matters. The accomplishment of this event, however improbable it may appear to us, is universally wished for by the people of that country.

Lord Mansfield, who, a short time ago, appeared to be breathing his last, is amazingly recovered. The profession agree that he has never, for these ten years past, exhibited more acuteness and strength of faculty than he has been discovered to possess the present term. It is scarcely credible, that this venerable Judge should, in the putrid heats of a crowded Court, appear the liveliest of his brethren.

The illustrious Monarch of Prussia, the venerable Chief of the Court of King's Bench, and Mr Macklin the comedian, have been often mentioned as instances in whom the mental faculties, as well as the corporeal powers, were unimpaired.

Should we not add to these, the amiable veteran of Strawberry-hill, and Colonel Lascelles, the latter of whom particularly still enjoys the pleasures of society, with all the cheerful vivacity of youth.

Lord Dunmore is appointed Governor of the Bahama Islands.

When Lord Percy (now Duke of Northumberland) commanded in America, after the battle of Banker's Hill, his Lordship distributed 1000 l. amongst the wives and widows of the killed and wounded. His Lordship, when Colonel of the 5th regiment of foot, never appropriated his pay to his own use, but distributed it amongst those men who had wives and children. The reciprocal regard which subsisted between his Lordship and the regiment in general, became proverbial; and such was the respect the private men had for the favour of their commander, that his displeasure was the severest punishment exercised for a long time in the regiment. There was not a better disciplined corps in the service than that under his Lordship's command; and that excellence was acquired by emulation.

A new writ is issued for electing a member for Shaftesbury, Dorset, in the room of Adam Drummond, Esq; deceased. Also, a new writ for electing a knight of the shire of Renfrew, in Scotland, in the room of William McDowall, Esq; who has accepted of the Chiltern Hundreds.

The celebrated Count Cagliostro, who has been for some days in this metropolis, was, last night, with some foreigners of distinction, at the Hay-market Theatre.

Yesterday, on casting up the ballot at the East India House, upon the question, "That it be recommended to the Court of Directors, to reconsider their resolutions of the 17th of March, and the 26th of May, relative to the freight of their ships for this season, and also to consider the following resolution, passed at a general meeting of the owners of shipping, held at the London Tavern, on Wednesday the 21st day of June 1786, viz. That an offer be made to the Court of Directors to accept 24 l. per ton under the stipulations of a letter of the 26th of May, from the said owners, to the Court of Directors for the China freights of the ensuing season only, and as an experiment, whether under any possible regulations or conditions, ships built on the principles required by the Company from the present owners, can be afforded at so low a freight;" the numbers were as follow:—

On Tuesday last, the Court of Directors received dispatches by the Francis, from Madras, stating, that the Governor and Council had appointed Mr White to the office of Secretary to the Council, Clerk of the Appeals, and Clerk to the Treasury, in the room of Mr Freeman, who has resigned. In making this appointment, the Governor and Council entered a minute, stating their reasons for the election of Mr White; they are strong and irrefragable. They state, that no man can be adequate to this important office, but he who connects genius with official detail—that Mr White has been five years in the station of Sub-secretary—that he has never asked for an office or place by way of remuneration—that his talents are exemplary—that it is fit to give encouragement to such servants, and that without the assistance of Mr White, the service of the Company must have suffered. Under these circumstances they submit their election of Mr White to the Court.

Mr Clarke is appointed Sub-secretary in the place of Mr White—and to the places of Persian Translator to the Governor and Council, Register of the Sea Gates, and Clerk of the Peace, they have appointed Mr Garrow, brother to Mr Garrow, at the English bar.

The fortunes made in India; the vanity of raising and deposing its princes; and the parade of its revenues, dazzle weak eyes, and make the sons of Britain overlook the possessions of their fathers for the hopes of mingling with Nizams, Nabobs, and Rajahs. This was the spirit which formerly debilitated Spain; for the Spaniards turned their affections from their country to the Indies. If America had continued in the King's peace, it would have had similar effects on Britain. Millions of productive capital were withdrawn from the agriculture, trade, and manufactures of Great Britain, to cultivate the desert provinces and ceded Islands of the other hemisphere. The policy of this country is to multiply domestic occupations, to increase and accelerate the circulation of property, to form commercial capitals, to strengthen every species of industry, and to direct the ardour of an ingenious and enterprising people to salutary objects.

The following is a correct list of the passengers arrived in the King George East-Indiaman, Capt. Jonathan Court, from Bengal:

Mr and Mrs Cator, Mr Webber, Mr Palmer, Dr Walker and family, Majors Eaton and Roberts; Captains Waugh, Breton, Hufley and Denby. Capt. Brettell, Mr Williams, third mate, and Mr Reid, purser of the Montague, which unfortunately blew up at Bengal. Lieut. James Welch, of the 78th regiment died, at sea.

It was yesterday reported, that along with the Right Hon. Charles Jenkinson, the following gentlemen are, immediately after the recess, to be called up to the House of Peers: Sir H. B. Hall, Bart. Henry Banks, Esq; and John Rolle, Esq.

Yesterday, Lord Sydney waited on Gen. Stewart to signify his Majesty's pleasure, that he should not prosecute any further his dispute with Lord Macartney. We do not know the precise terms in which the Royal pleasure is signified to a military man in questions of etiquette, but it is generally conclusive.

Yesterday the Duke of Northumberland presented to his Majesty the garter and ensigns of the order with which his late father was invested; his Grace went afterwards to the House of Peers, and took his seat.

Yesterday the French Ambassador had his audience of leave on his return to Paris on his private affairs.

DIAMONDS.

Memorandum of Mr Hastings.

London, 2d June, 1786.

"At two P. M. received from Mr Blair, a packet from Richard Johnson, containing letters from Nizam Ally Cawn, and other papers, mostly recovered from the Hinchinbrooke; one to the King, with a bulle; contents unknown. Sent a note to Major Scott to apprise Lord Sydney, and to desire that he might deliver them to his Lordship."

Copy of a letter to Major Scott.

My dear Scott, 2d June, 4 o'clock.

"I have just received a packet, of such apparent importance, as alarms me for the consequences of keeping it in my possession; and I therefore give you this unseasonable trouble, to request that you will take the earliest possible means to communicate this information to Lord Sydney, with the following circumstances relating to it, which are all that I yet know concerning it."

"The packet was delivered to me by Mr Blair, brother-in-law to Mr Richard Johnson, and I have given him my receipt for it. It was directed to me; I opened it, and found it to contain an English indorser paper, sealed, which I have not opened; a letter from the Nabob Nizam Ally Cawn to the King; a letter from the same Nabob to myself, damaged, and scarce legible, if legible; and a small bulle sealed with 3 (or I believe 4) seals, bearing the Nabob's principal titles. These are all much soiled with the sea water, having been originally sent on board the Hinchinbrooke, and recovered from the wreck. Besides the above, there were a letter of a more recent date, from the same Nabob to me, and other English papers. I guess the purport of the effaced letter to be a commission to me to deliver the letter to the King, and most probably the bulle with it, the contents of which I have not a clue to conjecture. Supposing that it may contain something of value, and in that case of no small value, I think it neither consistent with my interest or credit to keep it an hour longer in my custody than absolute necessity may require, and therefore request that I may be relieved from the charge; and that for that purpose you will be so good as to endeavour to obtain Lord Sydney's permission that you may deliver the packet, with all its contents; to him; concluding, that while the present enquiry lasts, his Lordship would prefer that mode to my own personal attendance."

"Your affectionate,
"W. HASTINGS."

Major Scott's account in the House of Commons, on Monday last.

That on receiving the foregoing letter, in the House of Commons, on the 2d instant, he (Major Scott) wrote upon a slip of paper to Mr Hastings, that he would take the first opportunity to speak to Lord Sydney. The debate lasted till eight in the morning, and then he was more disposed to go to sleep, than to wait upon the noble Lord. When he saw Mr Hastings in the evening, he told him he should be certain of seeing Lord Sydney at the birth-day on Monday, and would speak to him; but not seeing him, or not thinking of it at the time, that day passed over. In the course of that week, Mr Hastings begged him not less than five or six times, to apply to Lord Sydney, expressing great uneasiness at the letter being in his possession, and entreating him to take letter and bulle away with him, which the Major declined to do, from an apprehension of being robbed of them. He told Mr Hastings, that on the following Monday he should be certain of meeting with Lord Sydney, and this he said to him the latter end of the week. On Monday, he did see his Lordship in the House of Lords, who appointed the following morning to receive them, and Major Scott said he waited upon him on Tuesday morning the 13th. He could declare upon his honour, that the delay of the delivery between the 2d of June, when Mr Hastings received them, and the 13th when Major Scott delivered them, was imputable to him (the Major) alone; that he was very much engaged in the week; that the House of Peers did not meet all the week; and he never saw Lord Sydney till Monday the 12th of June, not conceiving it a matter of particular importance whether there was a delay of a few days or not, nor could he conceive what inference could be drawn from the time and mode of delivery.

The above are published in consequence of what had fallen from Mr Sheridan, a few evenings ago, in the House of Commons, respecting the delay of the delivery of the bulle from the 2d to the 13th instant.

Extract of a letter from Vienna, June 8.

"Sir Robert Keith, Envoy from the King of Great Britain to this Court, has made overtures on the part of his nation, for the conclusion of a treaty of commerce, and to obtain a repeal of the heavy duty of 60 per cent. upon English manufactures, promising that Great Britain will grant similar advantages to the steel of Stiria, the wines of Hungary, and other Austrian products; to all which Sir Robert obtained for answer, that the Emperor would willingly enter into a commercial treaty, but was inflexible as to the second part of his proposals."

Extract of a letter from Paris, June 22.

"People of the first distinction at Court exerted all their influence with the Sovereign to pardon the Countess de la Motte, who, after having been confined, and the unhappy offspring of Valois underwent her destiny. Yesterday at a quarter after six in the morning, one of the turnkeys of the prison went up to Madam de la Motte's sleeping apartment, and without any prefatory apology for disturbing her at that early hour, told her in uncouth and terrible accents, to "rise and follow him; that Mr Hubert, the jail-keeper, was waiting for her below." The affrighted female refused to obey; but when she was informed that a Royal Mandate was sent to require her compliance, she, though reluctantly, followed the turnkey, and was by him conducted to the inner gate. She was only allowed time to put on one petticoat, so great was the hurry of the Magistrates to execute the arrest of the 31st of May. She no sooner descended the last step of the stairs, than she was seized on by two satellites of the law, by them handcuffed, and inexorably embraced. When the Countess appeared before the Greffier, and her sentence was read to her, she hurried into the most calumnious and unheeded of imprecations against the Court, the Parliament, and the Cardinal; but this same great spirit deserted her, when she felt the hangman putting the rope about her neck; she was at that instant seen in tears. The instruments for her further punishment, the brand, some other tools, and an ardent fire, called up all her former courage; for she then cursed and swore in the most unwomanlike manner, and uttered alternate cries of grief and despair. It was with difficulty that the hot iron could be applied to her shoulder; the executioner must have been an adept to have succeeded in that part of his profession. She rolled herself on the ground, and kicked at him with such violence, that some courage was required to perform the ignominious operation. The very instant the execution was over, she was dressed in the utmost hurry, and put into a hackney-coach, in which were two tiptiffs, that conducted her to the Salpetriere, where she is destined to spend the remainder of her days. She had the rope about her neck all the time, and those who accompanied her, insensible to the feelings of a woman, did not offer to take off the mark of infamy. On her arrival at the place of her destination, she threw herself on the floor, and motionless seemed to be deprived of every vital sensation. When she came to herself she appeared quite calm, and without testifying any visible anxiety, patiently let herself be unrobed, and with the greatest ease put on the coarse stuff which is to be her future clothing; her hair was cut off. Mr de la Motte, her husband, was on the same day burnt in effigy in the Place de Greve, from one to three in the afternoon."

WIND AT DEAL, JUNE 28. S. W.

EDINBURGH.

Extract of a letter from London, June 29.
"Yesterday, the bill, enabling the Trustees there in named to pull down the Luckenbooths, and to make other improvements within the city of Edinburgh, was presented to the House of Peers, and read a first time."

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

"Sir Guy Carleton's pension bill was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading.
"Mr Brook Watson's pension bill was also read a first time, and ordered for a second reading.
"Mr Wilberforce's bill was then read a third time, for the disposal of the bodies of convicts after execution, and altering the sentence of females con-

...ed of petty treason; it was then passed, and ordered to the Lords.
"The sinking fund bill was also read a third time, and passed.
"The House then went into a Committee on the said duty bill, Mr Gilbert in the chair, which the Committee proceeded through, and ordered to be reported.
"The House also went into a Committee, Mr Gilbert in the Chair, on the American tool prohibition bill, which was likewise proceeded through, and ordered to be reported.
"The bill for preventing persons going in disguise, was also read a third time, and passed.
"The bill for regulating the wool manufactory, and for preventing the exportation of tools, &c. used therein, brought in by Mr Henry Thornton, was then read a third time, and passed.
"The House then went into a Committee on the bill of Man fishery bill, Sir Harry Houghton in the chair.
"Mr Young managed the several clauses that form the bill, which were respectively agreed to, and the bill was ordered to be reported.
"The West Florida Commissioners bill was read a third time, and passed; as was "The Commissioners of Accounts bill.
"Mr Gilbert brought up the bill for instituting an enquiry into the Crown and forest lands.
"Mr Joliffe complained of the bill being brought in at a very late period of the session; besides, that it gave the Minister a very great influence. He was to appoint the Commissioners, who were to act for three years, without being under any sort of control. This he thought wrong; and contended, that the Commissioners, as well as others, should make occasional reports. Mr Joliffe was very pointed in his objections. He said, if the Minister had turned his attention to waste lands, he would have done service to the public, and would have had no occasion to have taxed retail shops, and such articles as perfumery and potatums.
"Mr Joliffe proposed several amendments, which were agreed to, and the bill was ordered to be engrosed; and the House adjourned." Before the Edinburgh bill passed the House of Commons, a clause was added, by way of rider, as follows: "That if any number of persons shall, by a writing under their hands, declare themselves willing and desirous to carry on and complete, on a more enlarged and improved plan than hitherto intended, the works herein and by the said former act of the 25th year of his present Majesty, authorized and directed to be done and performed, for opening an easy and commodious communication from the High Street of Edinburgh to the country southward, it shall and may be lawful to and for the Trustees nominated and appointed for the said purpose in the said act of the 25th year of his present Majesty, or any six or more of them, at a meeting called for that purpose, upon due intimation to them of such declaration in writing, to name and appoint the persons who shall so have signed such declaration as and for new Trustees, and to re-sign the execution of the trusts hereby and in the former act in them reposed, to such new Trustees as aforesaid: Provided always, that such new Trustees shall give security to the good liking of the Trustees named in the said former act of the 25th year of his present Majesty, for carrying into execution, upon such enlarged and improved plan, the several works herein before authorized and directed to be done and performed, and for indemnifying the said former Trustees of all engagements they may have entered into, and for the repayment of such sums of money as they may have advanced. And such new Trustees, or any six or more of them, are hereby authorized and empowered, at a meeting called for that purpose, to elect and appoint any number of persons they shall think proper, not exceeding twenty, to be joined with them as Trustees, for the purpose of carrying on such works. And the said new Trustees, and also the said other persons to be so elected and appointed by them as aforesaid, shall be invested with the same powers and authorities for carrying the said former act of the 25th year of his present Majesty, and this act, into execution, and for electing other Trustees, in case of vacancies by death or otherwise, as the Trustees appointed by the said former act of the 25th year of his present Majesty were invested with, any thing herein, or in the said former act contained to the contrary thereof in any ways notwithstanding."
COURT OF EXCHEQUER.
This day, the Lord Chief Baron delivered the judgment of the Court, upon a motion made on behalf of the creditors of James Kempt, Gavin Kempt and Company, and Gavin Kempt as an individual, against a writ of extent taken out in favour of the Crown upon the effects of these parties. This cause had been pled for several days. The Hon. Henry Erskine this day concluded his arguments on the part of the creditors, and was replied to by the Lord Advocate. The Lord Chief Baron then delivered the opinion of the Court, which he did with his usual candour and perspicacity, declaring, that though he was not for stretching the prerogative law too far, yet, in the present case, he was perfectly clear, that the extent ought to have its full force, and in this his brethren were of the same opinion. The sum for which the extent was taken out, amounts to more than 1100 l. Sterling, and when paid will leave a very fory fund indeed for dividing among the creditors.
Married at Jerviston, on Friday last, the Hon.
Mr Baron Gordon to Miss Baillie, only daughter of the late Henry Baillie, Esq; of Carnbroe.
Died at Muirtown, on Monday last, Mrs Scott, wife of David Scott, Esq; of Netherbenholm.
His Majesty's commission has come down, appointing William Honyman, Esq; to be Sheriff of Lanarkshire, in place of Robert Sinclair, Esq; appointed Clerk of Session.
NEWCASTLE RACES concluded.
Friday, June 23. the 50 l. for 4 year olds, &c. was walked over by Lord A. Hamilton's Alexander,

No horses entered for Saturday's plate.
The long main fought at this meeting between the Duke of Hamilton and General Beckwith, consisting of 21 battles, was won by the former 1 head; and out of 18 byes the Duke got 12.
The Rev. Samuel Dent, of Bridgetown, in Barbadoes, (a native of Whitehaven) has discovered the veritable Nankess Dye, which has so long been the object of enquiry.
On Wednesday se'ennight, four companies of the 58th regiment of foot marched into Whitehaven, and embarked on Monday for the Isle of Mann.
There is now living at Quarry House, in the parish of Felton, a gentleman of the name of William Burrell, aged 103, who can read the bible accurately, with the book contrarywise, and without the assistance of glasses.
Last Monday, a woman who belongs to a gang of thieves, and her daughter, only six years old, went into a linen-draper's shop in Newcastle, and while the woman engaged the shopkeeper in pricing a handkerchief, the child dexterously picked up from the counter, and marched off with a piece of printed cotton, (value 12 s.) which was not missed till the little thief had got to some distance from the shop with it, and the woman was preparing to follow.— Can we then wonder at the alarming accounts the public papers give us of the continual increase of fellons and thieves of every denomination, when we here see a fresh instance of what has before too often and too obviously occurred—"parents training up their very infants in the arts and practice of every species of fraud and theft?" How necessary then is it become to stop, how laudable must be every attempt to stem the torrent of such formidable wickedness, and, by counteracting the same, to produce a happy change in the rising generation? May Sunday schools, and every other effort and means abound and prosper for this end!
On Tuesday morning, a little before six o'clock, Mrs Porteus, wife of Emanuel Porteus, of Chettlestreet, merchant, coming to Newcastle to make some payments for goods, was attacked and robbed about the middle of the Long Bank by a single foot-pad, who knocked her down, and took from her four Sunderland Bank notes of 5 l. each, two Tyne Bank notes of 5 l. each, and a green purse, containing three guineas and two half guineas in gold, and 12 s. in silver. The man appeared of a middle stature, had on a blue or dark coloured coat, and drab coloured breeches. The woman lies dangerously ill at Chettle-le-street.
Extract of a letter from Dublin, June 27.
"By a gentleman who arrived here on Sunday from Paris, we learn, that Mr Eden is not likely to succeed in his commercial negotiation, as several difficulties had been stated by the French ministry, particularly one, which can scarcely be got over, that is, that in future French wines imported into Great Britain shall pay but half the duties that wines the growth of Portugal or Spain shall be liable to.
In consequence of this being made a point, from which the negotiation on the part of Mr Eden would not recede from, Mr Eden has been obliged to send a messenger to London for further instructions, whom our correspondent has seen on his way as far as Calais."

Further Particulars respecting Mr FITZGERALD.
Mr Fitzgerald's estate consisted of about 10,000 acres, a great part of which was very fine land; it never brought him near the intrinsic value annually; as solvent tenants were unwilling to live under a man of his disposition, a great space of it remained unoccupied. If properly husbanded, it is estimated it would be worth 7000 l. per annum.—He purchased a commission in the Royal army, in the year 1765, and from this we may date the commencement of his public transactions.
He had distinguished himself in two duels, before his being garrisoned in Galway, in the year 1767, when, on some quarrel with a Lieutenant Thompson, they met in a public garden in the suburbs of that town; and at the second shot, unfortunately for George, and those who have since suffered through his means, part of his skull was only shattered, without penetrating the pia mater. Little hopes were, however, entertained of his life; but the skill of Surgeon Wilkins, who had been used to the cure of gun-shot wounds during the American war, under the immortal Wolfe, fatally preferred him for a more shocking catastrophe. He was at this time one of the gentlest looking youths in Ireland, and was so vain of a fine head of pale-coloured hair, that though he never winced under the trepan, he dropped tears when the surgeon told him, that cutting off his hair was necessary to his cure.
It would be a difficult task to trace him through his numerous quarrels and duels in Ireland, England, and France. In the latter kingdom, he was carried by the Count d'Artois, and in the habits of familiarity with numbers of the first nobility in France. An anecdote is related, that he introduced some loaded dice at hazard, and being detected, the compassion of the Count d'Artois saved him: He immediately fled in women's apparel. On his return from France, in 1776, he accompanied his father to the county of Mayo, that unhappy scene of the tragedy in which he acted so principal a part.
As France had rather increased than diminished his foppery, his mode of travelling was in a very extraordinary stile. The father being in the German service early in life, all the servants were put in husar uniform, with monstrous fables; and the entrance and the exit of their suite into every country town, had all the parade a little German Prince could make in a route through his petty dominions. This uniform was blue, faced with yellow; the facing of a great breadth, which, with the great buff cap, gave the suite a very courtly appearance. The forerrunner up as a candidate for the county Mayo, in the election of 1777, and even petitioned Parliament against the returned member, but lost it.
Every part of Fitzgerald's body was scarred with wounds, which he had received in the various ren-counters and duels he had been engaged in. There was a large hole where a ball had lodged in one of his hips, another in the small of one of his legs; his head had been trepanned, and his right side was so perforated with pricks of the small sword, that it had an appearance not easy to describe.

In the church-yard where the remains of the unhappy Fitzgerald is deposited, is the following account of his family, engraven on the tomb-stone of his grandfather, and which was transcribed by a gentleman present at the interment of his unfortunate descendant:—
HONOR PROBATAQUE VIRTUS.
Here lieth the body of Thomas Fitzgerald of Turlough, Esq; who ended a life of as few failings, and as many virtues, as ever fell to the share of one man, the 15th of May 1747, in the 86th year of his age.
He was son and heir to John Fitzgerald of Gurteens, in the county of Waterford, whose ancestors he enjoyed a great estate there, as well as in the county Kilkenny, from the landing of Strongbow, in the reign of Henry II. A. D. 1107, to the time of his transplantation to Monena. He first married Elizabeth Ferrers, mother of Ralph Jennison, Master of the buck-hounds to his Majesty George II. He afterwards married Henrietta Browne, daughter to John Browne, of the Neale, Esq; by whom he had Elizabeth, John, George, Nicholas, Julia, Henry, Mary, Cecilia, Edward, and Michael, of which only were married George, to the Right Honourable Lady Mary Harvey, sister to the Right Honourable the Earl of Bristol; Mary to the Marquis of Arez-zo, Governor of Naples; Nicholas to Margaret Ste-phenfon, daughter of James Stephenfon, of Kelly-beg, Esq; and Bridget to Thomas Lyfter, of Grange, Esq;

mentioned, in the several lots and divisions following; or in such other lots as may appear more eligible to purchasers:

LOT I. The SUPERIORITY of the six-merk lands of old extent of Arbuckle, lying within the barony of Monk-land, and Sheriffdom of Lanark, with the feu-duties payable by six different vassals, being 3 l. 14 s. 4 d. 8-12ths Sterling, of money, with 5 bolls of corn payable in kind, besides the casualties of Superiority which are considerable, as the properties are valuable, and some of the vassals in non-entry. These lands hold of the Crown, affording an unexceptionable qualification in the county; and the purchaser may have the benefit of a Crown charter, with an unexecuted precept of sale.

LOT II. The Lands and Barony of LENTRAN, comprehending the Lands of Rindie, Holm, and Craigaig, lying within the parish of Kirkhill, and county of Inverness, situated about half way between Inverness and Beaulie, the public road between these places passing through a part of the lands, which stretch in a line from the contiguous frith or arm of the sea, to the tops of the hills at the south, where they have fewel with an extent of hill property and community; together with the Mill of Kingilly, and piece of Ground lying contiguous thereto, being a part of the lands of Ballygrinhill, with the multure and fequels of the said mill, payable out of the lands of Newton, Kingilly, and Bel-lygrinhill, with the shillen-hill, mill-lead, and other conveni-encies of the said mill.

The present gross rent of the said lands and barony of Lentran is 157 bolls bear, and 31 l. 17 s. 5 d. 3-12ths Sterl. of money rent. The mill having for some time been discontinued, the proprietors and tenants of the lands thirled have since gone to other mills, paying dry multure only; so that the value of the thirlage cannot be distinctly ascertained till the mill is rebuilt.

The barony of Lentran is holden of a subject superior for payment of 6 l. Scots yearly of feu-duty. The mill of Kinggilly, mill-lands, and multure are holden blench of the crown.

LOT III. The Lands of EASTER, WESTER, and MIDDLE ABERCHALLADERS, including KYLACHY, with their proper graings in Glenbuck, as well as those which formerly belonged to the lands of Kytrie; and also, the Lands of Leek and Inverigarr, with the salmon fishings on the loch and water of Oich belonging to these respective lands, lying within the united parishes of Bolekine and Ab-bertarff, and county of Inverness.

The current lease of the lands of Aberchalladers may be terminated by a purchaser at Whitfunday next; and the subsisting lease of the said lands of Leek and Inverigarr may be terminated at Whitfunday 1792. The gross rent of the said respective lands and fishings is 143 l. Sterling. They are to be holden of subjects superiors for payment of 105 merks Scots, or 5 l. 16 s. 8 d. Sterling of feu-duty. There is on the lands of Easter Aberchallader an inexhaustible lime quarry, of excellent quality and easily wrought.

LOT IV. The Lands of KYTRIE, the Davoch Lands of COULACHY, with their theallings in Glentarriff, Brunletter, and Corrieauschan, and privilege of the thealling of Dirach-uan; also, the old Glebe of Abertarff, lands of Clachan, and Achvraid, together with the right of superiority, and certain feu-duties to be paid out of the lands of Coulnalach and Sounachan, and out of a part of the lands contained in the preceding lot, lying within the said united parishes, and county of Inverness. The present rent of the said lands, including the small feu-duties, is 125 l. 6 s. 6 d. 8-12ths Sterling. The lease of the property-lands expire at Whitfunday 1790; but in the option of a purchaser, may be terminated at Whitfunday 1787. The lands and others in this lot are to be holden of a subject superior for payment of 100 merks Scots, or 5 l. 11 s. 1 d. 4-12th Sterling of feu-duty.

LOT V. The Lands of Melkie and Little AUCHINDAR-ROCHS, the lands of ACHTERAMORE, ACHTERA-BEG, the lands of BALMAIN and CARGODDY, with the moirs thereof; and also the lands of INCHNACAR-DOCH, comprehending the towns and lands or Balnatus, Balnadedoch, and Belloich, with the Salmon Fishings on the water of Oich and Weller end of Lochnefs, effiering to these lands, lying within the parish and county last mentioned; together with their Graings in Glentarriff, called Carnoch and Keriongarrie, and as presently possessed by Lieut.
Ewen McPherson, Roderick Macdonald, and others, his subtenants, by a lease current for 19 years from Whitfunday 1785, but which may be terminated in the option of a purchaser at Whitfunday 1792. The present rent effiering to the said whole lands and fishings is 181 l. Sterling. This lot is to be holden of a subject superior, for payment of 120 merks Scots money, or 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. Sterling of feu-duty yearly. There is on the lands of Achtera a full grown oak wood of considerable value, fit for cutting.

The estate of Abertarff, comprehended in the three last lots was arranged somewhat differently in the former advertisements; but, according to the manner in which they are now divided, each lot will afford a freehold qualification in the county, in case the purchasers may at any time acquire the superiority, which cannot be disposed of to any other but the vassals. These lands are at present thirled to the mill of Abertarff; but each purchaser is to have right to his own multure in time coming, with power to build mills, if they think proper, which will be an immediate addition to the rental and value of each lot; and there is no doubt that there will be a farther increase of rent on the termination of the current leases, as the lands are of great extent, and safe wintering grounds, being of excellent quality both for crop and store-farms, well accommodated in every respect, with easy access to the fourth county markets, by the public military road running through them.

LOT VI. The Towns and Lands of SHIAN, lying in the parish of Kilmanivaig, and county of Inverness, on the great military road from Fort Augustus to Fort William. These lands are holden feu of a subject-superior for payment of 20 merks Scots money yearly of feu-duty. They are at present set at 36 l. Sterling yearly rent; but, on a 19 years lease, a considerable rise is offered. There is lime on the ground, and appearances of lead ore.

LOT VII. The Old Glebe of BOLESKINE, presently possessed without lease, at the yearly rent of 2 l. 15 s.
Sterling.

LOT VIII. The PREMIUM of INSURANCE in the Edinburgh Friendly Insurance Office, which effiered to the house and pertinents fronting the High Street of Edinburgh, between Niddry and Merlin's Wynd, being the second storey above the shops, and valued at 2000 l. Scots.

The barony of Lentran will be shown by Mr William Fraser, factor on the estate of Lovat, residing at Inverness.— The lands of Abertarff and Shian by Thomas Fraser at Dalcattick, near Fort Augustus, and by the ground officers and tenants; and the progress of writs and conditions of sale, are in the hands of James Fraser, writer to the signet, to whom intended purchasers may apply for further particulars.

Coffeehouse in Edinburgh, upon Wednesday, the 26th of July next, at six o'clock afternoon,

The Lands and Barony of REDCASTLE, lying in the parishes of Kilmarn and Kilmuir Wester, and county of Ross.
These lands hold of the Crown, and are valued in the Cef-books of the county at 1491 l. At a moderate conversion of the vidual, they yield yearly rent about 1200 l. Sterling; and being very extensive, and still in their natural state, they are capable of great improvement.—Their situation is uncommonly agreeable. They lie along the navigable Frith of Beaulie, which bounds them on the north for the space of about five miles. They are distant from the burrough of Inverness only about two miles. The soil is of an exceeding good quality, dry and healthy; and owing to the south exposure, the crops are more early than in the most southerly parts of Scotland. The mansion-house is fit to accommodate a large family. The gardens are extensive, and yield fruit of all kinds in great plenty early, and of the best quality.—There is a considerable salmon fishing upon the estate, and white fish and shell fish of all kinds. The low country game upon it is plenty, and all sorts of Highland game within a few miles of it.
There is some natural wood, and the plantations upon the estate are extensive, and in thriving condition.

The estate of Skibo, as surveyed, contains 3946 acres 3 roods and 8 falls Scots measure, exclusive of three Highland sheallings, or grazings, of good pasture, and a considerable extent of muir or heath pasture, partly common, partly exclusive property, which has not been surveyed, and stands valued in the cefs-books at 948 l. 17 s. 8 d. Scots. The greatest part of the lands is erected into one entire free barony, called the Barony of Skibo. And there is payable out of the lands holden of the Crown feu-duty to the amount of 47 l. 19 s. 8 d. But as the proprietor has liberty to retain these feu-duties for repairing and preserving the Castle of Skibo, there is no deduction made upon that account. The remainder of the estate, also the Ferry of Portmaculture, or Melkie Ferry, is held of the Earl of Sutherland, for payment of 100 merks Scots of feu-duty yearly. The lands in general lie in a warm convenient situation to the north and contiguous to the Frith of Tain or Dornock, and are very improvable at a small expense. There is plenty of freestone quarries in the lands, fit for building and making fences; and an inexhaustible quantity of sea-shells fit for manure, upon the shores adjacent to part of the lands.

There is a great deal of natural growing wood, consisting of birch, oak, and alder, which, for most part, would turn to good account, if inclosed and preserved. There are also a good deal of planted wood, consisting of Scots pines or firs, ash, oak, beech, elm, planes, roan or mountain ash, and some foreign firs, all in a thriving condition.

There is a good salmon-fishing adjacent to part of the lands, and a small river runs into a bay from the frith, near the mansion-house, in which there is plenty of sea and river trout; also salmon and flounders in the usual seasons.
The estate abounds with almost all kinds of game.

The gardens and mairs, or farm of Skibo, formerly occupied by the Bishops of Caithness and Sutherland, and where they had their country seats, consisting of 319 acres 1 rood and 1 fall, exclusive of the belts of planting and other wood plantations, are mostly of a very rich deep soil. The gardens are of remarkable good lands, lie in a very warm situation hanging to the south, and are well stored with fruit trees of the best kinds. The farm is all inclosed, and mostly subdivided in small inclosures, surrounded with belts of planting, hedges, and hedge-rows.

There is a convenient mansion-house on the estate, a large pigeon house, and proper office-houses. It lies about three miles from the town of Dornock, is pleasantly situated on a gentle ascent from the Frith of Dornock, and commands a most agreeable prospect of that frith and country adjacent; and there is a bay or outlet from the frith, which contributes much to the pleasure of the situation and prospect.

The situation of the lands of Langwell is remarkably beautiful, romantic, and convenient. They extend above seven miles along the sea-coast from the Ord of Caithness westward, and reach many miles from the sea up the country, along the banks of the waters of Langwell and Berry-dale, which run through friths of the same names, and fall in together at Berrydale, not many hundred yards from the sea. The friths are equally beautiful and commodious, having hills on all sides covered with wood, and the vallies affording arable and natural hay, and good grafs for milk cows. Beyond these there is a very extensive tract of muirhills and hill grounds, which yield excellent pasture for yeld cattle, and which, though wide, are distinctly bounded.

No estate can be better adapted for black cattle and sheep, as well on account of the shelter which the hills and woods afford, as the extent and quality of the pasture. The cattle feed on these grounds in all seasons of the year, without being hurt by the weather; whence they become so hardy, that no cattle from the Highlands of Scotland are more acceptable to drovers than those from this estate.

The mansion-house of Langwell is particularly well situated, at half a mile's distance from the sea, upon the declivity of a hill fronting the south, and almost surrounded by a bank ever green with wood. Nor is its situation more pleasing to the eye than it is commodious for living. From one hand there is a constant supply of almost all kinds of fish; and, on every quarter, the greatest plenty and variety of game, such as deer, roe, black cock, and all kinds of heath fowls.

There is a salmon-fishing on the water of Berrydale, which may be managed so as to yield a very considerable yearly revenue, being capable of improvement.

The woods presently upon the ground are mostly all of natural growth; but there is great room for planting, and flones in abundance for inclosing; and a little attention to the woods already upon the lands would make them of considerable benefit to the proprietor, as they are situated in a country where timber is very scarce. The whole lands (excepting the six-farthling land of Oldibae, holding of a subject-superior for payment of a small feu-duty) are holden blench of the Crown, and entitle the proprietor to vote at the election of a member of Parliament for the shire.

The articles of roup to be seen in the hands of Alexander Stevenson, depute-clerk of session; and schemes of the rental and proven value to be had of John Ruffel, clerk to the signet, agent in the sale.

LOT I. The Estates of DALVEY and GRANGE-GREEN, formerly called Grangehill, in the united parishes of Dyke and Moy, and county of Elgin and Forres.
These lands are of good soil, abound with limestone, and are capable of great improvement, as they lie in the middle of a populous country, are moderately rented, and mostly out of lease. By a late division, a moir has been annexed to the estate, which being now drained, a considerable tract of ground, upon the side of it, offers a valuable and easy subject for improvement. There are two extensive plantations of trees on the estate, the one of Dalveigh, and the other of Grangegreen, both of which are of considerable extent, and afford an extensive view of the Moray Frith, town and harbour of Findhorn, town of Forres, and of the adjacent country. The Gardens are excellent, and the offices new and complete. The free rent of Dalvey, reckoning both the bear and meal at the low conversion of ten shillings per boll, amounts to 232 l. 5 s. 10 d. 9-12ths Sterling.

The free rent of Grangegreen, at the above conversion, including a salmon-fishing on the river of Findhorn, reputed at 106 l. 2 s. 11 d. 6-12ths, after deduction of public burdens, amounts to 245 l. 7 s. 7 d. 6-12ths Sterling.

The lands of Dalvey and Grangegreen both hold feu of the Crown. The value rent of Dalvey is 700 l. 15 s.
10 d. and of Grangegreen, 473 l. 19 s. 10 d. The Lands of Grangegreen, including the salmon-fishings, are inherited by a gentleman of 74 years of age, and are to be sold with the burden of his liferent.

EASTER BIN, in the said united parishes of Dyke and Moy, and county of Elgin and Forres, lie along the bay of Findhorn, are mostly out of lease, and are very improvable, having an extensive tract of rich ground belonging to these lands, in common with a neighbouring proprietor. The rent of this lot, which holds feu of subjects superiors, converting the meal and bear as above, and including a salmon-fishing, which yields of free rent 90 l.
12 s. 3 d. Sterling, amounts to 254 l. 1 s. 10 d. 3-12ths.

299 bolls 2 lippies of vidual, half meal half bear, the meal at 7 l. 10 s. 12 d. to the boll. This lot holds of the Crown, and is valued in the cefs-books at 777 l. 5 s. Scots. The lands are situated within two miles of the town of Nairn, and within six of Fort George, and are of excellent soil, capable of great improvement. They have an heritable at-tolerance or fervitude of peats on two extensive moires in the neighbourhood. Upon this estate of Park there are two extensive inclosures, planted with firs, which are well grown, and in a thriving condition.

LOT IV. The Lands and Barony of CLAVA, lying in the parish of Croy, and counties of Nairn and Inverness, within four miles of Inverness, and the like distance from Nairn and Fort George. These lands hold of the Crown, and are valued in the cefs-books at 292 l. 15 s. 8 d. Scots; and, along with these lands of Clava, are to be sold, the Lands of MID-FLEENES, lying in the parish of Andclaugh, and county of Nairn; holding also feu of the Crown, and valued in the cefs-books at 152 l. 10 s. 8 d. Scots.

The free rent of the lands and barony of Clava, converting the vidual at ten shillings per boll, amounts to 170 l.

produce excellent corn, and are noted pasture-grounds for cattle and sheep. There are abundance of moirs and limestone on this estate, and some favourable appearance of coal. The leases being all expired, except one of a single farm, a purchaser will have an opportunity of improving the lands, or of letting them to advantage.

the town of Nairn, which lately belonged in property to the family of Rofe of Clava, with one half of the mill of Nairn, and the half of the salmon-fishings on the water of of lease; and the rents have not been raised for many years past. They are well supplied with peats from the moirs of Nairn, and accommodated with a considerable extent of out pasture-ground of the community of Nairn. The old Mansion-house, pigeon-house and garden of Clava, with some tenements in the town of Nairn, are included in this Lot; and there are sundry boats on this parcel, for white or sea fishery, which pay teind-fish that are not renale.

salmon-fishing, amounts to 237 l. 17 s. 9 d. 11-12ths Sterl.
